

Rope a trip to wild west Utah

Utah is offering agents the chance to pull on their boots and visit the state for themselves.

Get out those cowboy boots if you want to follow in the footsteps of John Wayne or ski boots if you want to hit the slopes – Utah really does have it all.

To win, just log on to www.exploreutah.co.uk and complete the Explore Utah training before September 28. The winner will be able to request either a winter ski trip (six nights' lodging and five days' lift tickets) or a national park trip (six nights' lodging and National Park Pass). Specific dates are subject to availability.

Your flights will be with Continental Airlines, which offers non-stop flights to New York/Newark Liberty International Airport from seven UK airports: Belfast, Birmingham, Bristol, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Heathrow and Manchester. In addition, Continental offers a twice-daily service from Heathrow to Houston, and a seasonal service to Cleveland.

Utah has plenty to offer, from its majestic mountains and vast expanses of red rock desert, to its 13 world-class ski resorts; plus five national parks, over 40 state parks plus national monuments, recreation areas, golf courses and historical sites galore. Then there is the great indoors to explore with shopping at silly prices, restaurants and spas.

The state also offers a range of sales support material on 08456 020 574 or by emailing: gurjit@cellet.co.uk. www.exploreutah.co.uk
